

ALEXANDRU MĂRMUREANU, THE ROMANIAN SURGEON HEALING AMERICA: "FROM HEART TO HEART"

Mădălina Bălan, host of the TV program The Romanian Dream – The American Success, traveled to Los Angeles following the remarkable reputation of one of the most esteemed Romanians abroad: Dr. Alexandru Marmureanu, an internationally recognized cardiovascular surgeon widely considered the best in Los Angeles.

Respected not only for his surgical performance but also for his humanitarian commitment, Dr. Mărmureanu shared the principles that guided his career.

"You must remain the same person. You must never forget where you came from and how you got here. I'm the same person — a little older, but nothing has changed on the inside. I always dreamed big. I want to write a book: Born in Romania, Made in America. That's success. I reached the place I dreamed of," he said.

"I operate a lot, and I operate with quality. I give money to poor people. I travel the world to operate and help others. We never ask patients if they can pay or not. I do it from the heart — for the heart."

In a world where luxury is measured in exclusivity rather than money, the presence of a Romanian at the top of the global professional elite once again proves that true success is built with humility, ambition, and a whole lot of heart.
